DAILY MESSAGE OF SAINT JOSEPH, TRANSMITTED IN THE SACRED HOUSE OF MARY, PAULISTA MOTHER, IN THE CITY OF SAO PAULO, BRAZIL, TO THE VISIONARY SISTER LUCÍA DE JESÚS

If you want to learn to serve, you will have to be meek, humble and simple. The true server does not impose their service. The Father is the One who disposes of their surrender to bring to Him the hearts in most need and the more urgent situations, to be healed and solved by the spirit of love and peace.

Children, the greatest service in these times is the experience of love and unity among the soldiers who have been self-summoned. When your souls learn to love and to transpose the obstacles imposed by your own incapacity of accepting the differences and limitations of others, when you are able to live unity and fraternity without fear, without competitions, without offenses, you will see that you will open in the world a larger door than the one you open with a plate of food to a poor and hungry soul.

With this I am not saying that you should not serve the poor and hungry ones because helping the ones in most need is the foundation of My instructions. But today I need to make you understand that in these times there is a greater and priority service to be provided, a service that for many is invisible, a service that does not reveal itself to the eyes of those who are distracted in their own will.

In these times you must to deepen yourselves in your own spiritual growth because this will rebound in the future in the lives of many poor, blind and lost ones who will need help not only for their bodies, but mainly for their souls. They will need an example of true love for them to live their own redemption and, if there is not this love in your hearts, it will be no use to take a plate of food or a medicine for the body, when those who are truly sick are the soul and the spirit.

If the servers discover that the essence of service is the love and the union among them, if they build between them an unbreakable fortress based on the unity and love of the Divine Plan, then, yes, they will be in these times and in the times to come, true instruments of God. Therefore, every day, before thinking of serving faraway, think of serving nearby, think of serving those you are at your side. Serve your fellow being, understanding their limitations and difficulties, loving their imperfections, to help them to transform them.

Be true disciples of Christ and, amidst the present humanity, so blind and ignorant, there will not be a greater service to do.

If you live love, everything you do will become charity.

Your Father and Companion,

The Most Chaste Saint Joseph
