DAILY MESSAGE OF SAINT JOSEPH, TRANSMITTED IN THE MARIAN CENTER OF FIGUEIRA, TO THE VISIONARY SISTER LUCÍA DE JESÚS??????

In order to learn to love you must first place your eyes and your consciousnesses on Truth because what you will love is the Truth that comes from God and that expresses itself in all things.

If you do not learn first to recognize the Truth that dwells in everything that has been created, you will run the risk of living a human love, based on judgments and convictions that are not real but only fruit of the limited understanding of the human mind.

For example, if Christ did not recognize the Truth, He would never have been able to live love in His Passion because He was abandoned by His companions, humiliated by all those that heard Him preach and that even received the Graces poured by God by means of His Words; He was tortured by those who represented the Law of God for His people and He carried in each one of His wounds, hatred, envy and curse of them all.

How to love, with a human heart, this experience?

Christ loved because He knew the Truth. He knew about the love of His companions, but He also knew about their weaknesses. He knew that after leaving Him alone and seeing that even so He still loved them, in the heart of each one of His companions an unbreakable faith would be born and, even though they would abandon Him at that hour, after that, they would perpetuate His Words and His Presence on Earth by the example and living testimony of each one of them.

Christ knew the misery in the hearts of the Pharisees, He knew the demon used their weaknesses to be fortified and this look of the Truth brought Him compassion. He felt the grief that these brothers of His had to learn with their own mistakes, but He knew that somehow they were vehicles for the fulfillment of the Plans of God in order to materialize in life what was in the Scriptures.

Christ knew that those who spit in His face, after having listened to His Words and received the Blessing of God, needed something else, an even greater degree of love, because immense was the darkness that blinded them. Therefore, He loved them.

Today, children, you must learn to contemplate the Truth. Truth that is not found with the use of reason because rationally it is not possible to love those who take away your life and that enjoy each drop of the blood poured from your body.

This Truth is incomprehensible for your minds and if you try to be erudite and logical in face of it, you will never find it.

The so-called wise men of the time of Christ discredited the Wisdom and Power of Jesus for they thought, "If He healed the sick people and multiplied bread, why does He not save Himself and show His Power and Divinity to the whole crowd that persecutes Him? He is, in reality, weak, stupid and a magician, not the Son of God."

Jesus listened to these thoughts, He loved even more and strengthened Himself even more! Because such was the ignorance of His people that His sacrifice and His example of love should be bigger each time.

Today, children, as your Father, I call you to love the Truth, to understand the limitations, the ignorance and the lack of love of your neighbor and to love them even more, fully.

Even if they seem irrational, immature, naive or imperfect, love even so.

Search for God without using, for this, the reason or even the intellectual resources you have within yourself because the love that you must manifest now you have never lived before. The love of which I speak to you is new, it is unknown, but it is full, unique and true.

Do not forget what I have told you and feel My words in your hearts because coming tests of the disciples of Christ will search for a similar example of the one of the Master.

Your Father and Companion, the One who teaches you to love and to know the Truth.

The Most Chaste Saint Joseph
